

House of Experience

Gallery Design

SITE LOCATION:

South University Ave, between Momo Tea, a teahouse, and University Tower, a large apartment complex.

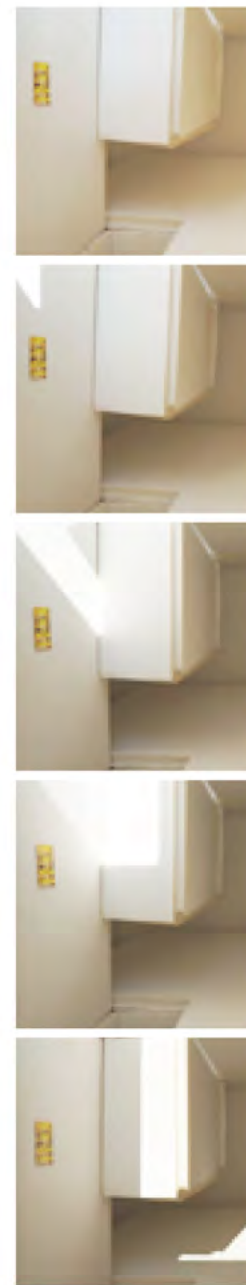

PROGRAM:

Theater, Gallery (display artist: Paul Klee), Sculpture Garden, Administration and Service programs.

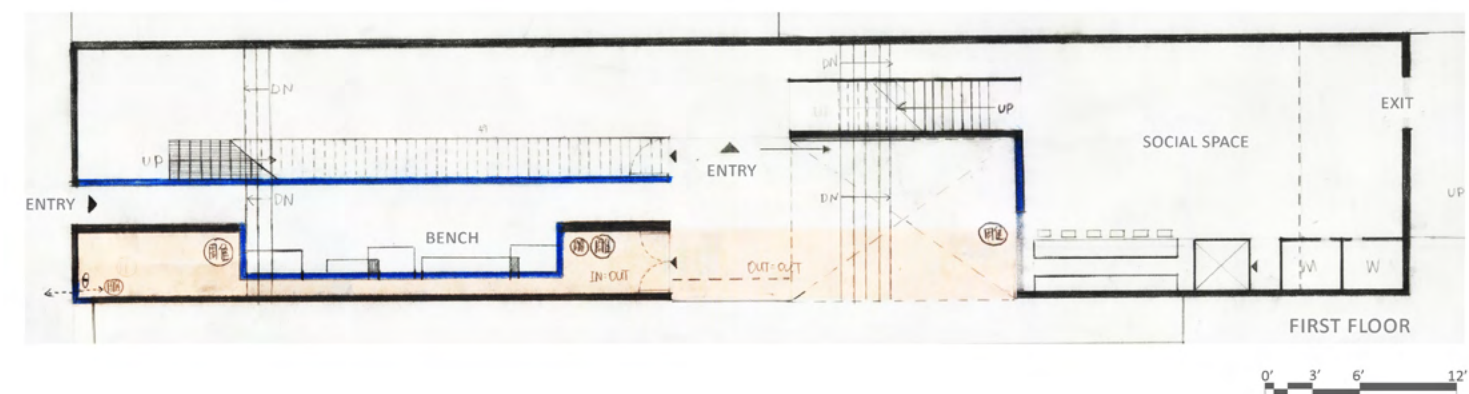

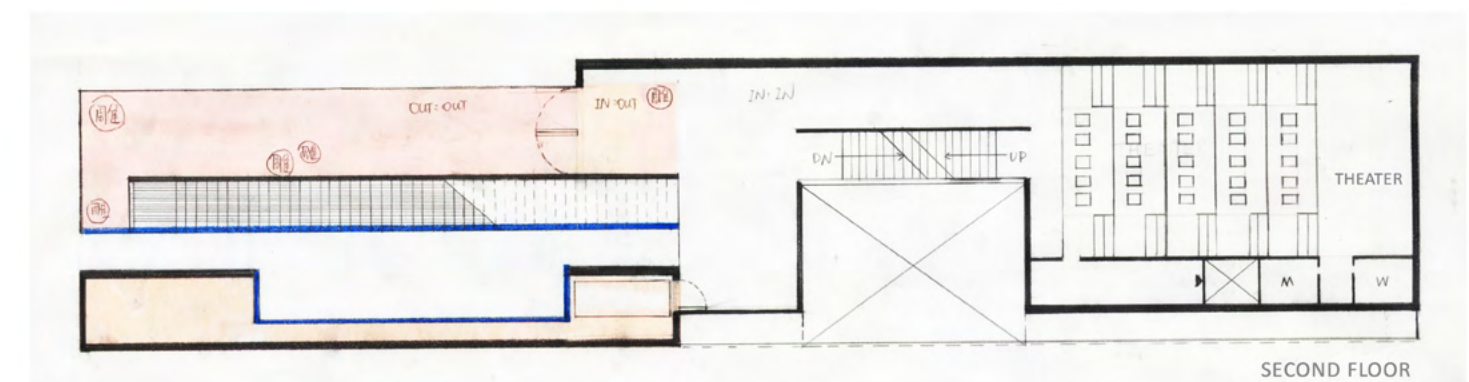

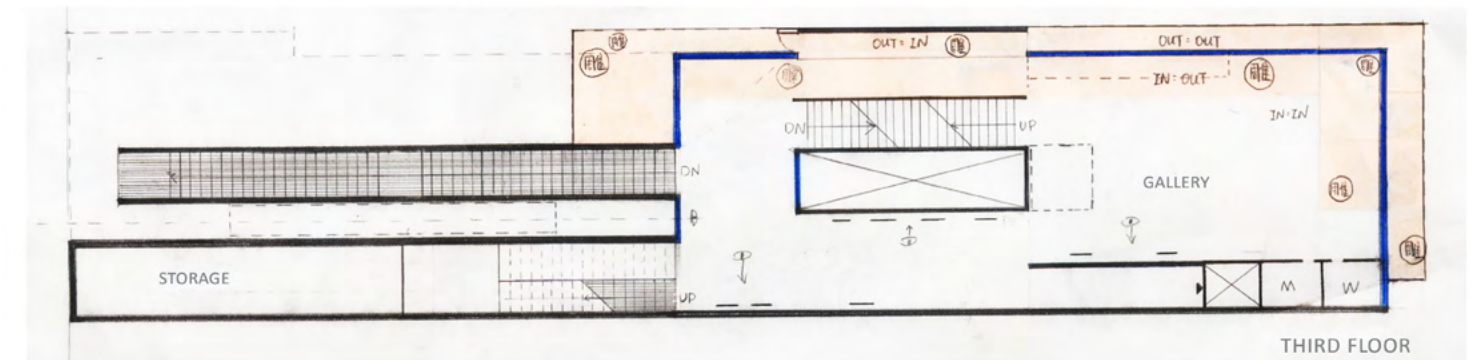

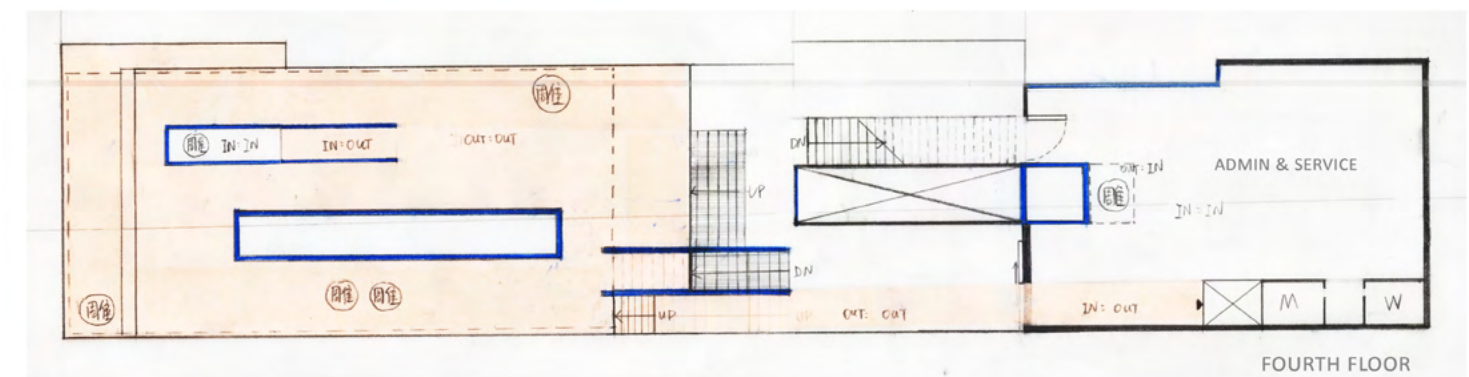

The House of Culture is a vertical stack of indoor and outdoor galleries and gardens for 2D and 3D artwork. The experience of the entry is vertical, one of moving up slowly and at a diagonal, while the exit experience, moving down, is quick and rational.

Instead of designing one single space for a Sculpture Garden, it is spread throughout the composition making the circulation an experience about viewing sculpture while climbing through the Garden. Sculptures are dispersed through all of the spaces.

The project blurs the line of outdoor and indoor space. The public zone of the city moves inside and up through the gallery spaces. The experience of circulation is carefully designed to influence movement through compression and release.
